Vietnamese mangoes exported to Australia are of the most well known mango brands cultivated in the Mekong River Delta where alluvial deposits provide many nutrients to mango tree for years.

Being geographically located in the tropical zone, Viet Nam, incredibly, is a rich land endowed by the nature with a rich variety of nutritious fruits.

Vietnamese mangoes are grown under GlobalGAP (Good Agricultural Practice) from transplantation to harvesting, storage and packaging with the aim of ensuring food safety as well as promoting stable and environment-friendly socio- economic development.

Vietnamese mangoes are imported and distributed by one of the Australian prestigious importers.
